Rackets Group Delving Into Teamster Links

Connection Sought
Between Gibbons
And 'Muscleman'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators will delve next week into links between Teamster muscleman Robert (Barney) Baker and one of the powers of the giant trucking union — Vice President Harold Gibbons.

Baker, 300-pound Teamster organizer, Thursday completed almost two days of testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee, ranging from the comic to the dramatic.

A perspiring Baker left the witness stand after Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) called him a perjurer and counsel Robert F. Kennedy labeled him an associate of "underworld filth and the scum of the United States."

But with the hearings in recess Kennedy indicated today the ponderous ex-convict's troubles with the committee are not over. He told newsmen Baker would continue as a subject of testimony when hearings switch next Tuesday to Gibbons' activities in the St. Louis area.

The new phase of the inquiry into the giant Teamsters Union and its president, James R. Hoffa, will include a violence-punctuated St. Louis taxicab strike in 1953 and the part Baker allegedly played in it.

McClellan contended that Gibbons supplied Baker and other Teamster organizers with an arsenal of pistols and holsters to match during the strike. Baker swore, "That's not the truth as far as I'm concerned."

Baker has testified his rise in the union began after he met Gibbons in 1952 at a meeting in Washington of the Americans for Democratic Action, a self-styled liberal group.

Kennedy said next week's hearings also will probe Gibbons' controversial election last January as president of the St. Louis Joint Teamster Council, with Gibbons himself a possible witness at the end of the week.

Hoffa, a grim-faced, silent spectator in the hearing room this week, is not scheduled to return to the witness stand for at least another 10 days.

Baker Thursday loudly denied charges ranging from threats to murder to trafficking in stolen jewels. But he sheepishly admitted he might have bragged and told "little white lies" about being a close friend of New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

Although Baker swore "I don't sell no jewelry," the committee produced a surprise witness who told of seeing a fortune in gems in a Miami home where Baker lived with a blonde girl friend in 1955.

Final Action Is Readied for Education Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 900-million-dollar aid to education bill born out of America's concern over Soviet scientific advances, was ready today for final congressional action.

The Senate was due to act first on the compromise four-year program providing 295 million dollars for college student loans and $59,400,000 for fellowships.

In agreeing on the compromise Thursday, a Senate-House conference committee omitted any provision for scholarship grants which had been urged by the Eisenhower administration.

The Senate had voted a $1,300,000,000 program containing both scholarship and loan funds. The House had passed a $100-million-dollar bill providing for student loans, but no scholarships.

The bill, as worked out by the conferees, would make available 500 million dollars to the states on a matching basis for science teaching equipment and administration.

Funds also would be earmarked for such purposes as foreign language training institutes; guidance, counseling and testing; vocational education, and research and experiment in new methods of teaching.

Faubus Keeps Plans in Readiness

NAACP Will Ask Court To Override Legal Barrier

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People will ask the U. S. Supreme Court today to knock down the legal barrier that would prevent Negro students from entering Central High School Sept. 2.

Gov. Orval Faubus kept his special legislative session plans in readiness in case the NAACP is successful in overturning the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals action that would block integration at the school until the Supreme Court has made the final decision. Little Rock's school board is going ahead on the assumption that Central will be an all-white high school when classes resume a week from next Tuesday. Registration begins today and if Negroes apply they will be told to attend Horace Mann Negro High School here.

Thurgood Marshall, attorney for the NAACP, said he would ask the Supreme Court to set aside the stay granted by the appeals court Thursday. If this action should be successful the way would be clear for Negroes to re-enter the school on opening day.

Faubus refused to back down immediately on his standby call for legislators to be ready for a session Monday when he heard that the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis had stayed its own decision that integration must proceed.

The governor said he wanted to be assured that the school board would take the opportunity afforded to it to avoid integration and that he stay which would hold Negro students out of school until the Supreme Court acted would remain in effect.

Could Not Have Delay
The Circuit Court ruled Monday that Little Rock could not have the 2½-year delay in integration given it by U. S. Dist. Judge Harry Lemley of Hope, Ark. But Thursday it said in effect that the Lemley decision granting the delay could remain in force until the Supreme Court decided the matter. That is provided the Little Rock school board filed its appeal to the high court within 30 days.

The school board hailed the stay order as "wonderful news" and Supt. Virgil Blossom confidently announced that Central High would open Sept. 2 as an all-white high school.

Later he amended his flat statement to say Central would be all white if the stay order remains in effect.

Gov. Faubus hinted that the state would close Central High should the federal government force integration a second year. At a press conference, he said one possible measure his administration would submit to the law-maker involved troops, and that closing the school in the event of forced integration was being considered also.

Stacey, seeking the clerk of courts post; Kenneth Bell, candidate for county auditor; and Robert S. Hartford, who seeks the post of judge of common pleas court.

Arab Peace Plan Approved by U.N.

Ike to Announce U.S. Readiness For A-Test Ban

President's Okay
Is Expected Today
Or Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is expected to declare today or Saturday U. S. to suspend its nuclear weapons tests for at least a year starting this fall.

The only strings attached, officials said, are these:

1. That the Soviet Union maintain its current ban on Soviet nuclear tests. If it starts testing again, so will the United States.

2. That some appreciable progress be made at eight-nation East-West talks to work out details of a worldwide system for detecting any secret atomic or hydrogen test blasts.

One year's time would be allowed. U. S. tests would be resumed if progress was not apparent by the fall of 1959.

Sent Advance Copies
Eisenhower sent advance copies of his intended announcement to Britain and France. In consultation this week, officials said, both Allied countries notified Washington they had no objection to such a unilateral U. S. statement.

The scheduled declaration would herald a major shift in U. S. atomic policy. Heretofore, the United States has insisted that any test ban be tied to a ban on atomic weapons making, reduction in nuclear stockpiles, troop cut-backs and a whole range of disarmament steps.

Snare and Delusion
But officials emphasized that the United States was still holding to its contention that any agreement to suspend tests is a snare and a delusion unless there are safeguards against testing on the sly.

A seven-week conference of scientists from both sides of the Iron Curtain ended in Geneva Thursday with surprisingly harmonious agreement on a "technically feasible" plan for setting up such safeguards.

The eight participants—United States, Britain, France, Canada, Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania—must now get together on follow-up talks on the diplomatic level.

Quaker Band Fund Grows To $3,938
With the addition of another $500, the Quaker City Band Fund has grown to a total of $3,938.74 this morning, and will pass the $4,000 mark before the day ends.

Norman Eckfeld, band president, said today that contributions to the fund have come in rather slowly his week. The band will leave next Friday to defend its national championship at Chicago.

However, another $1,000 is needed to cover the band's expenses during a five-day stand at the American Legion convention.

Some additional funds will be raised today through a benefit sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary at Joe Bryan's store.

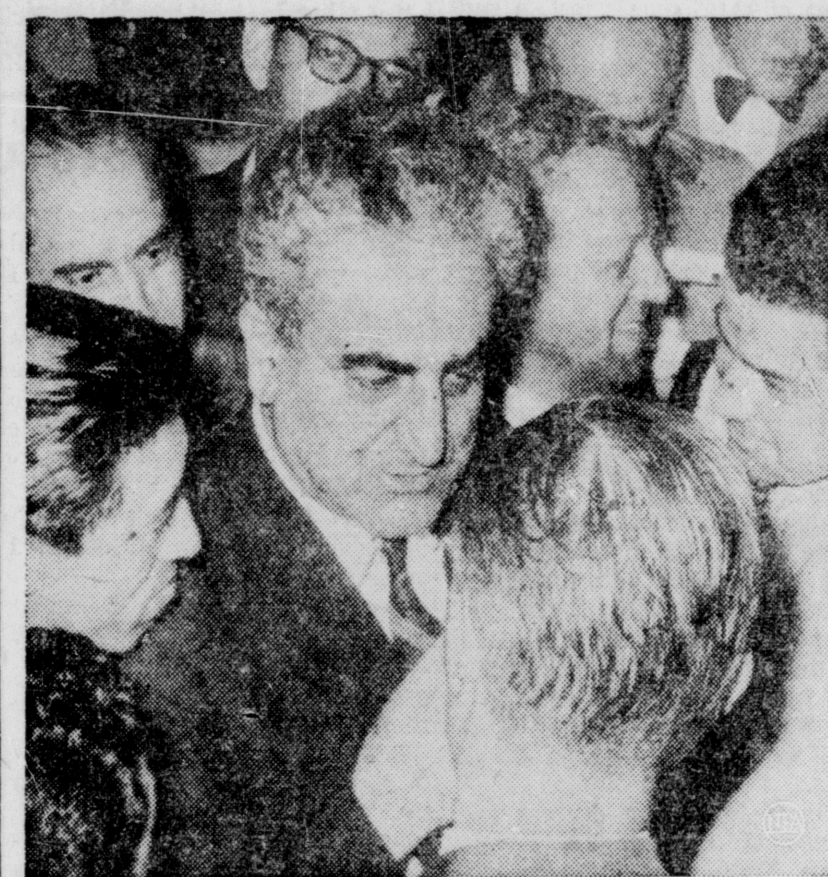

Letters soliciting other Ohio American Legion posts are starting to president said.

The canvass of district businessmen and manufacturers is about 75 per cent completed, Mr. Eckfeld said. Persons still desiring to help the band, he said, can leave their contributions to the Home Savings and Loan Co. office or to either Salem bank.

Tonight at 9:30, R. S. McCulloch Sr. will "wade in" after an estimated $200 in coins reposing at the bottom of the wishing well in the Timberlanes.

Jim Fitzpatrick, Timberlanes' owner, offered to donate the coins to the band fund if Mr. McCulloch extracted them.

Mr. McCulloch will be musically escorted at 9 from his place of business to the Timberlanes by six members of the "Dutch Band" who also play in the Quaker City Band.

3 Face Charges After Holdups

Youngstown Men
Nabbed at Roadblock

The Mahoning County Sheriff's department expects to file armed robbery charges today against three Youngstown men who admitted pulling holdups at a tavern and motel Thursday morning, deputies said today.

The three men have been identified as John Morris, 24, of 437 S. Pearl St.; Jessie Bogner, 21, of 1318 Wilson Ave.; and David Clow, 20, of 1001 Shehy St., all of Youngstown.

The trio were identified yesterday by Mrs. Stella Burke, a motel clerk, of North Lima, as the men who pulled a gun on her and took $150 from a drawer at the intersection of Calla Rd. and Route 7 at 12:30 a.m. yesterday, deputies said.

About an hour later the bandits stuck up Joseph Liptak Sr., owner of the Blue Ridge Cafe near Lake Milton, and took $101 from the cafe's cash register.

Law enforcement officers, alerted shortly after the second robbery, set up road blocks in the county. The bandits car was stopped in Boardman at 3:45 a.m.

A .22 caliber pistol and some cash was found in the car. Two 17-year-old boys who allegedly waited in the car while the holdups were taking place are in custody of the Mahoning County Juvenile Court.

DRIVER FINED, JAILED
Archer Kendrick, 46, of 295 S. Ellsworth Ave., was fined $100 and costs and was sentenced to three days in jail by Mayor Harold Smith for driving while intoxicated.

He was arrested at 1:35 a.m. today by police after he drove through a red light at S. Ellsworth Ave. and Mill St.

Hammarskjold To Embark on Mid-East Visit

Special Assembly
Accepts Proposal
By Vote of 80-0

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold prepared today to embark on an Arab-sponsored peace mission to the Middle East which won unanimous approval from the U.N. General Assembly.

The secretary general reportedly will be in the trouble area in less than two weeks. It will be his ninth peace-making trip to the area in 29 months.

The 81-nation Assembly wound up its two-week emergency session Thursday night by voting 80-0 for the Arab resolution. It assigns Hammarskjold the job of making arrangements to facilitate early withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and British forces from Jordan. The Dominican Republic was absent.

To Reaffirm Pledges
The plan promises to safeguard the political and territorial integrity of Jordan and Lebanon by reaffirming the Arab nations' pledges to refrain from interfering in each others' domestic affairs.

Hammarskjold also was asked to make plans for economic development of the Middle East in consultation with the Arab states.

Secretary of State Dulles commended the Arabs for agreeing on a peace plan. But he warned against expecting that mere passage of a resolution would solve all the Middle East's problems.

"These problems have deep roots," Dulles declared. "They have explosive aspects which can surprise us at any time."

Withdraw Resolution
Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who withdrew his own resolution in favor of the Arab plan, also had reservations. He voiced disappointment that the Arab proposal did not call for immediate withdrawal of British and U.S. troops, as did the Soviet resolution.

Gromyko warned that the Soviet Union would renew its demand for a military pullout if withdrawal did not come quickly.

Like Russia, Norway withdrew its West-supported resolution. It also gave Hammarskjold the task of working out a Middle East peace settlement but skirted any direct demand for troop withdrawals.

Aside from the specific mention of troop withdrawal, the Arab resolution actually was largely a rewrite of the Norwegian plan. Western diplomats believed the Arabs decided to forget personal differences and work up their own proposal rather than have it appear that a settlement had been imposed upon them.

Wellsville Woman Hurt In Road Crash

Northeast Ohio Fishing Fair to Poor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fishing over most of the state is fair to poor, the Department of Natural Resources reports.

Few fishermen are taking advantage of clearing lakes and streams, the report added. Conditions for the weekend by sections:

Northwest—Most streams roily and not in very good condition. Some lakes are fair but fishing pressure is low.

Northeast—Fishing has been fair, especially in the lakes where bass, bluegills and catfish are being taken in some numbers. Stream fishing is generally poor. The outlook generally is only fair.

East, Central and Southeast—A few lakes, including Clendenen, Tappan, Burr Oak and Knoll Lake are clear and normal. Most streams are in rather poor condition.

Central and South—Fishing generally fair to poor, although a few lakes such as Delaware Reservoir, Hoover Reservoir, Rocky Fork Lake, Jackson Lake and Knox Lake are in good condition. Most streams are roily and fishing is generally poor.

Southwest—This district has the best fishing waters because virtually all lakes and streams are clear but slightly high. All major lakes, including Kiser, Grant, Indian, Stonelick, Cowan and parts of Laramie, are in fair to good condition. Fishing pressure, however, remains low.

Sandusky Bay and Bass Island area—Sandusky Bay fishing is fair with perch, sheepshead and white bass being taken. Fishing around Bass Island has been only fair with some perch, sheepshead and walleyes being taken. Fishing appears spotty.

Rainbow trout, a native of the west coast, is the most migratory of all trout.

Actor-Producer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Inside every Hollywood actor today there is a producer struggling to get out.

Producer Gregory Peck has just emerged from actor Gregory Peck. With his partner, William Wyler, he has just produced a blockbuster Western.

It is in color and it cost four million dollars.

The actor, who worked briefly as barker at the New York World's Fair in 1939, is now on a three-week nationwide promotion tour for his picture.

"It's getting to be the thing for actors to do now," said Peck, smiling. "What we do is like the old-time pitchman, except we go in for the soft-sell manner."

"Basically what has happened is that the major studios now often just put up the money for a package picture deal. The studios take a minor share of the profits, and the artists take the major share."

"There is always a day of reckoning," said Peck. "Just as the major share of the loot now goes to the artist, so does the major share of the blame — and this present dream setup won't last long if the results aren't good."

"So far they haven't been good. Some of the best pictures have been and are being made by the independent producers."

Why does an actor want to assume the added burdens and risks that go with directing and producing? It isn't just the hope of making more money he can keep.

"I've been acting for 15 years," said Peck. "There simply comes a time when it isn't enough to wait for someone else to pick out your stories and tell you when to work."

"I feel that any actor who survives in this business for 15 years is entitled, in varying degree, to go on and become a director or producer. After all, even as an actor, you are directing yourself."

"I can't stand negligence, laziness or casualness when it comes to work," he said. "It doesn't pay off. You have to put everything you have into anything to get good results."

His thoroughness has paid off well. Most of his 28 pictures — Peck started in 1943, a star from the start—have done well at the box offices.

Every man has a creed he lives by whether he ever puts it into words or not. Asked to name his, Peck hesitated, then said:

"Do good work; try to grow in spirit; fear nothing, and remember God. They're the oldest laws in the book, but they stand up."

You Can See It Now

The significant thing about the education-aid bill whose skids are being greased in Congress for last-minute passage is that no one is asking for it, except its sponsors—and they are suspected of an ulterior motive.

Their ulterior motive, if they are guilty of having one, is to get their foot in the door for an ever-expanding federal education program. The Sputnik scare that convinced so many Americans the Russians must have developed a better school system, especially for training in science, provided a perfect excuse for widening federal participation in educational financing.

Eventually, this kind of participation, which already is amounting to about a billion dollars a year, would lead to greater participation in the administration of education. Whether this would be better or worse than what happens under state and local control is debatable. It clearly would be different, though, and many Americans dread the difference.

One special detail of the difference is so predictable you can see it now. The scholarship grants for students who are potential scientists would be as juicy a political plum as a politician ever had visions of. They would be subject to political influence as surely as cake frosting is subject to ants on a picnic. Somehow or other, the whole thing would be twisted into a gratitude-catcher, with deserving beneficiaries posing for pictures with their congressmen who made all the necessary arrangements.

This is aside from the fact no one has demonstrated a need for federal scholarships for science students. It is not more scholars to make use of the scholarships already in existence.

But as a way of getting people used to the idea that Washington is the place to look for education, along with everything else, an education-aid bill would be hard to beat. That's why its an odd-on bet to get through Congress, through the White House and right into the taxpayers' pocketbook before school bells ring again.

They Did It The Easy Way

The White House announcement of a big news break on the way keyed up expectations of such a wide variety Friday afternoon they belonged in a psychiatrist's diagnosis of the fears that plague the world.

Consequently, when it turned out that nobody had resigned or been fired, there was a letdown. All that had happened was the successful voyage of a submarine across the North Pole, under the Arctic ice cap.

It signified nothing, except that one of man's oldest dreams had come true; there finally was a Northwest Passage.

It was of no great importance, other than the fact one of man's most vexing frustrations — inability to get from the North Atlantic to the Pacific and vice versa without going thousands of miles out of the way — had been removed.

There was nothing memorable about it, unless there was something memorable about the voyages of Vespucci, Columbus, Magellan and Hudson. They became famous the easy way — by voyages on top of the water.

It had no long-range significance to commerce, aside from the fact that some day all cargo carriers are expected to travel submerged like the submarine that had crossed the North Pole.

All this scarcely could compare in importance with the firing or the hiring of some official whose name would be forgotten a few years after he dropped out of sight, unless there was going to be something memorable about the incident.

Would anyone want to make a flat prediction that in 500 years the only thing that will be well remembered about this era in which we are tumbling so bravely will be the name of the submarine Nautilus, which revolutionized ocean transportation, thanks to nuclear fission, and was the first ship to pass from west to east under the Arctic ice cap?

Anderson Knew His Course

Not the least of the triumphs of the young man who commanded the Nautilus on its polar voyage was his behavior when he was called to Washington to receive a presidential citation.

Cmdr. W. R. Anderson went directly from the white House ceremony to pay his respects to a man who hadn't been invited—Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, whose uphill fight for an idea made atom-powered submarines possible. Adm. Rickover, of all people, should have been on hand to commemorate the latest proof that the first atom-powered submarine can do everything he believed it could and more.

But since 1946, when he conceived the idea of an atomic submarine, Adm. Rickover rarely has been invited anywhere to receive credit. He has had to fight for survival, literally. The Navy pigeonholed his proposals and tried unsuccessfully to pigeonhole him. He was saved from premature retirement by presidential intervention.

Yet, everything he claimed could be done has been proved feasible. Even the Navy brass now luxuriates in the renown that comes from being associated with the feats of atomic submarines. The dreams of Jules Verne, as described nearly 100 years ago in "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," have been made to come true by the persistence of Adm. Rickover.

It is good to know that the young skipper of the modern Nautilus—the one that came true—remembered to whom he owned the privilege of being associated with an event in history that will be remembered when

Once Over

The amusing sentence, "This is neither an offer to sell nor a solicitation to buy these securities. The offer is made only in the prospectus," on top of advertisements of new stock issues baffles folks. It is required by an SEC ruling of years back, but is plain double-talk.

Copying its style we went to our broker about a stock today and announced, "My presence here is neither an indication of interest in securities nor a suggestion you might like to take an order."

The broker asked, "Would you mind repeating that?"

We replied: "No, but a repetition must not be regarded as in any hint I wish to discuss anything with you. Do you understand?"

"I don't, but please go on," he said. "This is a brokerage office and I am a fellow who sometimes buys a stock," I said, "but my visit must not be construed as a tendency to do business with you or have you show any inclination to do business with me."

HE FINALLY GOT the drift. We whispered furtively that we had a tip. National Beeswax Common. "Oh, yes," he said. "We have part of a 700,000-share issue but my saying so does not mean I am seeking orders."

"What's the price? And bear in mind I am not saying anything that can be construed as an interest in purchasing some," I said.

"It is $8 a share. Should I go so far as to solicit your order, which I am certainly not doing?" he replied.

"Let's be frank," I concluded. "You didn't want me to think you are selling this stock."

I don't want you to think I am soliciting the right to invest. So let's both assume I am here to get a plate of frankfurters and beans."

"Fine," he said. Then everything went fine.

JOHN DAVID MERWIN, named as new governor of Virgin Islands, was skipper of our 38-foot cruiser during a summer school vacation, and a wonderful kid. Poise and courtesy were top qualities. We remember the day he slipped and fell overboard casting a rope at the Essex, Conn., dock and came up with a polite "Awfully sorry, sir."

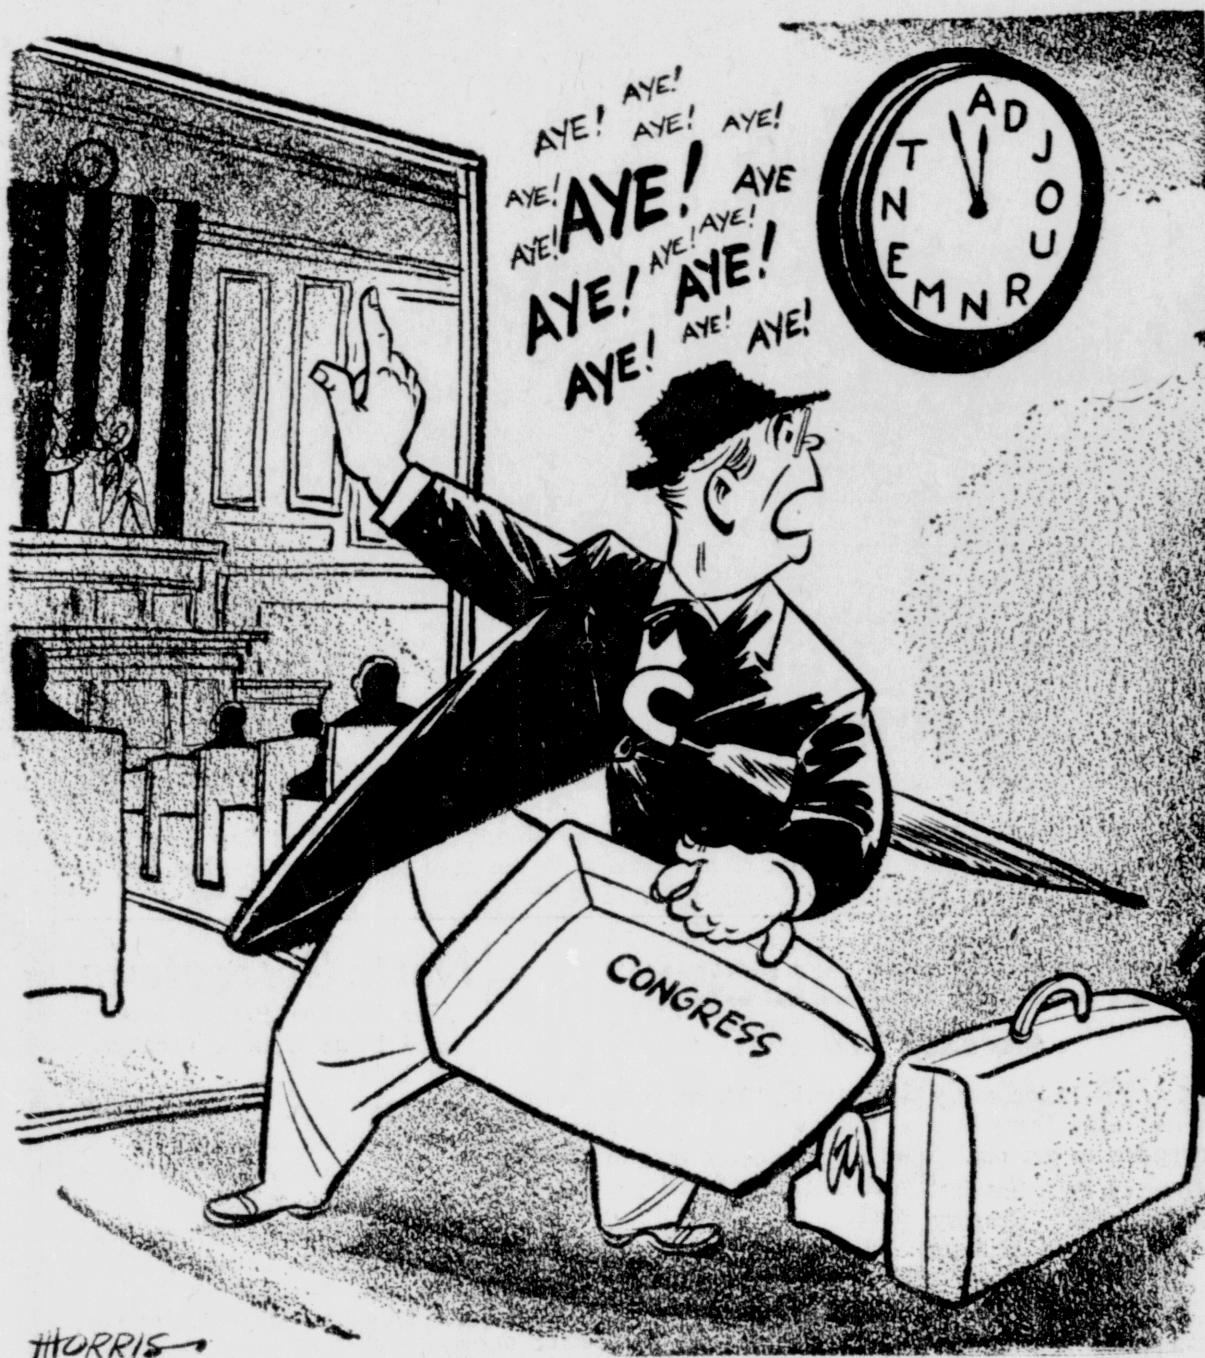

"Civil Aeronautics Board is probing deeply into cause of Nantucket horror" — News item. It shouldn't take it more than a few hours to discover that Nantucket in a fog is one of the most hazardous landing places on earth, despite which its landing field lacks almost every modern safeguard against fog. Canned socks and stockings are to be sold through supermarkets. Now for a "jar" of shoes and a can of pants.

Pensions of $25,000 are long overdue ex-presidents, but folks are wondering about free offices and $50,000 a year for office help. How can an ex-president retire and relax if he has a $50,000 office staff to worry him? Harry Truman doesn't need an office staff at government expense. He needs federal supply of walking-shoes and U.S. direction of pre-breakfast around-the-block walks.

We thought pocket-watches were obsolete, but more than three million are sold yearly. Who remembers away back when the "Waterbury" and "Ingersoll" heavy-duty watches were style, with chains and fobs? And when wrist watches were targets of comedians?

When Anything Can Happen -- and Does

Good Men, Bad Citizens

By RAYMOND MOLEY

While here and there some companies and a few trade associations are awakening business executives to their duty to participate in public affairs, recent elections and primaries indicate that there are many good businessmen who are also very bad citizens.

It is deplorable that in many companies, including some very big ones, explicit policy practically forbids employees from participation in political affairs.

Such restriction even applies to running for local offices such as membership in school boards. This policy cannot and is not intended to apply to workers who are members of unions. Those workmen are protected by union contracts with the companies.

So far as political affairs are concerned, they take their directions from their union leaders who generally not only encourage political activity but use the funds of the unions in political campaigns.

One big company has such a prohibition against executives in all grades, while the union with which that company has a firm contract is almost as active in political campaigns as is Walter Reuther's UAW.

SUCH POLICY not only is bad policy but it has a disgraceful moral implication.

It effectively denies plain civil rights to hundreds—thousands—of individuals who have a great deal to contribute to the maintenance and improvement of free institutions.

It is no wonder that Congress as well as the administration is responding to pressure groups whose demands are plunging the nation into a spiral of inflation.

The end may well be a crash engulfing not only the people who are making the demands and the politicians who are bowing to their pressure but the nation's economy and the business institutions which serve us.

With great potential leadership shackled by its own mistaken choice, effective political power remains with those who have their special interests to serve.

Aristotle not only a great citizen of Athens but history's foremost political seer, makes a sharp distinction between the good man and the good citizen.

Translated into our own times, we can see the man who works long hours, pays his debts, cares for his children, goes to church and worships God and is a kind and helpful neighbor. But he believes that politics is a dirty word and its practice a dirty business.

HE WOULD NOT raise his voice in a political cause and would abhor the idea of getting into a political argument.

He envisions Heaven, to which he is sure he is destined to go, as populated by others like himself—nice, beslippered family people peacefully mowing their lawns on Friday evenings, with a trip to a celestial golf club on Saturdays where members may swap corny stories while they sip highballs served by angelic hands.

They think, if they think at all about such subjects, that Hell will be full of politicians, labor leaders they don't like, and reformers they detest.

The vapors arising from the sulphurous pit will mingle with the aroma of cigar coming from smoke-filled rooms.

A woman whom I know—who gives long, long days to tramping her precinct in behalf of her party and laborious evenings in a dingy club-house shuffling lists of voters and stuffing envelopes—tells me that if she has a choice, she will take the Hell of those who do in preference to the Heaven of those who don't.

It is no wonder that politicians in Congress and elsewhere write off the influence and value of businessmen's support, ignore their pleas for this or that piece of legislation and bow their heads to the groups who back their demands with votes delivered at the polls.

I cannot deny the need for good men but the greater need right now is for more good citizens.

Issue Unresolved

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Neither Ike Nor Faubus Reached Settlement

Neither the statement issued by President Eisenhower nor the one issued by Gov. Faubus of Arkansas points the way to a settlement of the "integration" controversy at Little Rock.

The President is right as far as goes in interpreting the duty of the federal government, and Gov. Faubus is David Lawrence

Mr. Eisenhower spoke of "the solemn duty that all Americans have to comply with the final orders of the court." But this does not solve the problem of how court decrees shall be enforced.

The President added: "Nor should we lose sight of the fact that the maintenance of order to permit compliance with the final orders of the court is the responsibility of each state."

The key words are the "maintenance of order" which, in turn, would "permit compliance" with federal court orders.

Gov. Faubus says: "I do recognize my duty to preserve the peace of the state and I shall continue to do so to the best of my ability."

So far, both the President and the governor are in agreement in interpreting the duty of a state. The issue, however, is broader. The President, for instance, says: "Each state owes to its inhabitants, to its sister states and to the Union the obligation to suppress unlawful forces."

Even this would be agreed to by the governor of any state. But the President appears to extend the obligation of state authority when he says:

"It (the state) cannot by action or deliberate failure to act permit violence to frustrate the preservation of individual rights as determined by a court decree."

THE REFERENCE in the foregoing sentence to "deliberate failure to act" is unprecedented as a definition of constitutional obligations attributed to a state governor or a state legislator.

It means, in a nutshell, that a state is required to assist the federal government in the enforcement of its court decrees.

This has never before been regarded as a legal obligation of the state, though many times state authorities have voluntarily assisted the federal government, particularly where federal property or even enforcement of a federal law was involved.

To say, on the other hand, that the federal government may act as the disciplinarian of a state is to contradict the Constitution which declares that federal forces may be used to suppress "domestic violence" in a state only when called upon by the governor or the state legislature.

The President has the right to use federal troops to suppress "insurrection" or to enforce the "laws of the United States," but no authority specifically given by Congress exists today which would permit the use of federal troops to enforce court decrees.

It's the Real Thing

By TRUMAN TWILL

I intend to write a piece about the great illusion of representative democracy some year when another session of Congressh is over.

But, every time I start to get squared away to tart to begin to commence the thing, I realize that representative democracy is not an illusion, but it real thing.

It actually represents the people — the democracy. It is a clear reflection of everything about us that shows, if we do not like what we see, it is because the mirror tells the truth.

Everything is there — everything and everybody.

The chump who thinks he can buy his way into favor. The Slickie who uses words to conceal what he is doing. The Patriot whose action speak louder than words.

The Average Guy who is just smart enough to get out of nine out of 10 jams but not smart enough to keep out of them.

The Foxy Frank who always asks what's in it for him — because nothing else matters.

The One-Track Mind who gets hold of one idea and rides it into the Great Beyond.

The Operator who has the moral integrity of a mink but the cunning of a fox and is forever throwing hounds off the scent because it makes him feel superior.

The Traveling Salesman who has the same reaction when he gets to Washington he would have if he found himself in Peoria. The me-too Vote Caster who is to legislating what a Bait Caster

There is a legal distinction between a court decree and a "law of the United States."

Gov. Faubus is well aware of the limits of the legal obligation imposed upon him when he says: "If it is the purpose of Mr. Eisenhower's statement to reaffirm his position of last fall, that it is my duty as governor to use the militia to enforce integration in any school district in this state, then I must say my position of last fall is unchanged."

"I DO NOT interpret my constitutional duties to cover any such theory as advanced by the President. I do recognize my duty to preserve the peace of the state and shall continue to do so to the best of my ability."

There is a way available to the federal government to enforce court decrees without using troops. It is the only one provided by law. It permits a U.S. marshal to deputize any citizen as an assistant U.S. marshal.

There have been occasions when as many as 5,000 deputies have been sworn in to handle riots and other disturbances where federal court decrees were being violated.

Every citizen must under those circumstances accept service when summoned. He must, when on duty arrest any person interfering with enforcement of any federal court decree or federal law.

This method has been disparaged by some critics as futile but it has never proved so in the past — as, for instance, at the time of the Pullman riots in Illinois during the Cleveland administration.

It is at least a civilian process, and, if it breaks down, the persons responsible for breaking it down can be prosecuted in federal courts.

BUT, EVEN WITH such methods of enforcement, the big obstacle is public sentiment.

President Eisenhower in mid-September 1957 said to a press conference: "You cannot legislate morality where human beings are involved — it must come from within."

He has repeated that comment many times since. The experience of the American people with the Eighteenth Amendment is a case in point. It was widely resisted because prohibition was unpopular. Enforcement became next to impossible.

"Resistance" need not be violent. It can be peaceable. Abraham Lincoln said in 1858 with respect to the Dred Scott Decision of the Supreme Court of the United States: "Somebody has to reverse that decision, since it is made; and we mean to reverse it, and we mean to do it peaceably."

The right of the people by peaceful means to "resist" any law or court ruling is imbedded in the Bill of Rights of the Constitution itself.

This generation has had no experience with "massive resistance" to a provision of the Constitution. The successful campaign, however, to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment in 1933 was just such a legitimate exercise of constitutional rights.

The New York Herald Tribune

is to fishing — a poor excuse for the real thing.

The Trimmer who justifies his existence on earth by taking his little bite out of every proposition, until he has warped it enough to make him feel he has done his duty.

The Bazoo whose destiny is to fill the air with oratory — not sense, just oratory.

The Dedicated Soul who understands why all men's attempts to govern themselves are bound to look a little foolish, in fact ludicrous, and therefore tries to add what dignity he can to what otherwise would be a farce.

The Professional politician who plays politics for its own sake, neither knowing nor caring about the principles and policies that get lost in the shuffle.

The Special Interest Spokesman who is quartered in Washington and given all he can eat and drink in exchange for doing what he is told to do.

The Legal Beagle who is attracted by the scent of all that litigation cooking.

The Hero who capitalizes on his fame.

When I realize how representative it really is — this representative democracy — I get so scared I cannot write about it when another session of Congress is over.

Financing a College Education

It's Your Pocketbook

BY FAY HENLE
NEA Staff Writer

What is it going to cost to send your youngster to college? More important, what plans have you made to finance higher education?

The American Bankers Association, surveying 56 representative colleges, has determined that the fixed cost, tuition, special fees, room and board range from $700 a year in state-supported institutions to $2,100 in private colleges.

Add transportation, books and supplies, clothing, laundry, recreation and incidentals and you've a pretty costly proposition on your hands—an average yearly cost of $1,300 or $5,200 for the full four years.

For a family with two children in the $15,000-a-year income bracket, using the standard deduction, this means about 11 per cent of it after-tax income goes toward keeping a student in a private college.

As you get down toward the average income family, the situation becomes more serious. A full 28 per cent of a $5,000 a year income after taxes is needed.

FORTUNATELY, both bankers and educators are stepping forward to share this problem with parents. They are aware that with college expenses so high—and still rising—frequently college costs can no longer be handled, as in the past, out of current income on a pay-as-you-go basis.

It is also true that a college education is of top importance in today's job market.

Since scholarships, part-time jobs, short-term loans and such are proving inadequate, new plans are constantly being devised to supplement the usual financial sources.

One method attracting widespread interest involves a time-payment plan to help families pay for college education in much the same way that they pay for a house or automobile.

THE LARGEST OF THESE—Higher Education Loan Plan called HELP—was started two years ago in Massachusetts. Under this plan students who have completed their first college year in good standing may borrow $500 a year for three years or a total of $1,500. Six months after graduation the note is renewed for an additional three years scheduled for 6 monthly installments.

Columbia University's Graduate School of Business offers a loan aid plan under which a student in need of financial aid receives 60 per cent of the amount of the loan from a bank and 40 per cent as an outright grant from an alumni fund. The bank, which requires no financial statement from the student, provides a loan to each student selected by the school.

Check the colleges that interest you for plans similar to the ones outlined above. They are rapidly coming into existence all over the nation.

Bomarc Missile Hits Target at 250 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Bomarc interceptor missile has proved again that it is ready to become a part of the nation's air defense system.

The swift missile roared across the Atlantic Thursday and zeroed in on a pilotless B-17 drone bomber at a range of about 250 miles. The Bomarc was triggered when someone pushed a button at a computer control center in Kingston, N. Y., 1,500 miles away.

It was the third time this month that the Bomarc had been fired successfully within the SAGE air defense system.

SAGE, which stands for Semi-automatic Ground Environment, is composed of a string of radar stations and electronic computers across the country. The system, which went into effect June 27, can spot an enemy air attack and begin retaliation in seconds.

Heart Murmurs Not All Dangerous

Many parents become quite panicky when they are told that their child has a heart murmur.

While this is readily understandable, the day has long since passed when every child in whom a heart murmur was heard was put to bed for months or years and made into a chronic invalid.

Some murmurs, it is true, reflect the presence of some serious heart disorder particularly rheumatic fever. However, there are a good many murmurs found in children which are classified as "innocent" or "functional."

SUCH MURMURS probably have a cause, it is true, but most of the innocent murmurs are outgrown as the child gets older. And while they should be watched from time to time, they need not interfere with the life and activities of a youngster.

When a murmur is heard, however, it is always necessary to decide whether it is functional or the result of heart disease and whether the disease is active or quiet.

Most of those murmurs in youngsters resulting from disease are caused by rheumatic fever. Some are the result of defects present at birth, called congenital murmurs.

The heart murmurs resulting from rheumatic fever are potentially more serious than functional murmurs. It is necessary in each case to decide what the murmur is coming from (that is, what part of the heart is involved), how badly the heart has been damaged, and whether or not the process is progressive.

Actually, even in many cases of heart murmurs from rheumatic fever, the outlook is pretty good, though in others the activity may have to be restricted.

MOST OF THE heart murmur from birth defect are fairly serious. But today many can be corrected by surgery.

Until the whole situation has been carefully studied, it is im-

2,100 Are Expected At Beaver Schools

About 2,100 pupils will be in attendance when Beaver Local Schools open the 1958-59 fall term Wednesday, Sept. 3, George M. VanHorne, the executive head, reports.

A full day of activities will mark the opening which will follow a general meeting of all teaching personnel at the high school building the preceding day, beginning at 9:30.

About 550 of the students this year will be in grades 9 through 12, Mr. VanHorne said.

Starting time schedules for the various buildings, as well as bus pick-up schedules are expected to be the same as last year.

Most units will observe the 8:30 a.m. or 8:45 a.m. starting time. General bus pick-ups will commence about 7:40 a.m. throughout the district.

One major change in district operations will be the opening of the new upper elementary building on Rt. 7, opposite the high school. Nearly 700 pupils, grades 5 through 8, are expected to make first day appearances, Mr. VanHorne says.

Quality Strip Metal Is Made from Powder

Bliss, EF Companies Succeed In Venture

Major problems of producing high-quality hot-rolled strip from metal powder have been solved, and commercial production of copper strip from metal powder will soon be a reality, it is revealed here by the E. W. Bliss Co., which developed the process in conjunction with Chemetel Corp. of New York City. The Electric Furnace Co. of Salem assisted with the work.

While most development work has been in copper, the system has shown practical application to many other metal producers, and experimental work on nickel shows much promise.

IT IS POSSIBLE now to produce high quality hot-rolled strip from powder at savings of about 80 per cent of conventional equipment and rolling costs.

The Bliss Company said that its own tests, as well as tests run by a major producer of copper products, and the findings of independent testing laboratories, reveal these facts:

1. Copper strip produced from powder has higher mechanical properties than electrolytic grade copper strip produced by conventional methods.

2. The oxygen content is substantially lower in strip produced from powder than in electrolytic grade strip.

Production of this high-quality copper strip follows more than six years of research at the Bliss Company's Salem plant where equipment to make commercial production feasible was perfected.

THE PROCESS BEGINS with chemical production of metal powder from various sources — cements from mining pits, scrap, ores, and concentrates and others. The powder is then fed through a hopper and guide arrangement through a mill for green compacting, and is passed continuously into a protective atmosphere heating furnace for sintering.

On delivery from the furnace it is immediately hot-rolled, with further reduction or reductions. Then depending on the material, it may be sintered and hot rolled again to produce metal completely consolidated to 100 per cent density.

Many production problems had to be solved during the course of the experimental program. For example, special rolls and feed devices had to be developed before it was possible to produce green compact of uniform thickness and density, with edges that were extremely uniform, sound and square.

And much research had to be done in the fields of protective atmosphere, sintering time and sintering temperatures.

THE END RESULT of all this research, however, is metal strip comparable or superior to conventionally-produced strip. The powder metal copper coils used in the tests to be described were 0.040" gage, six inches wide, and 100 to 200 pounds in weight. After production by the powder metal process, they were annealed and cold rolled to 0.010" on a conventional four-high rolling mill, and

Alarm Goes Off Accidentally; Crown Jewels Thought Stolen

LONDON (AP) — The burglar alarm went off accidentally at the home of Britain's crown jewels today, causing one of the greatest scares since Capt. Peter Blood swiped the royal gems nearly 300 years ago.

"The crown jewels are safe in the Tower of London," said a Scotland Yard official today. "They have not been stolen."

The official said the alarm was tripped by mistake.

"Intruders have entered the jewel house in the Tower of London," intoned the recorded voice on the alarm at London's central police headquarters.

That was enough to send the flying squad zooming over to the ancient bastion on the Thames. The alarm automatically dropped a 16-ton steel cage around the jewels.

"In this business," said the Yard man, "you can't take a chance. The crown jewels stolen? Why it would be the story of the century, old boy."

Britain's crowns and royal regalia of incalculable value are on display in a circular glass case surrounded by a high picket fence.

More than 300,000 people from all over the world view them annually.

Capt. Blood, a daring robber, almost got away with them. Dressed as clergyman, he and two associates gained entrance to the jewel house back in the 17th century.

With a few well-directed blows they knocked out the guards and pocketed some of the gems. They dropped half their booty though as they galloped off on waiting horses.

They were overtaken and all but one ruby were recovered. Later this was found in the pocket of one of the gang.

Two hundred years later a woman got her hand through the steel bars and the glass and tried to yank out one of the many-jeweled crowns.

Guards caught her. They found her hand badly cut and the crown slightly scratched.

James Abbot McNeill Whistler, American artist, was born July 1, 1834.

The 20-year-old soldier attended Salem High School.

down state laws not in direct conflict with federal laws on the same subject.

The measure, opposed by the administration, was returned to the Senate Judiciary Committee by a 41-40 vote. The effect was to kill it for this session.

The House, after three days of debate, ended a session over legislation to subsidize the domestic minerals industry by killing the bill 182-159.

In other actions Thursday: 1. House and Senate conferees agreed on legislation to extend the government's security program to all federal employees — not just those in sensitive jobs.

2. The House adopted a resolution calling on the U.N. General Assembly to consider setting up a permanent police force to patrol areas where peace is threatened. The Senate has passed a similar resolution.

3. The Senate and House passed a compromise $3,697,305,478 catch-all money bill, with most of the money allocated to the Atomic Energy Commission. The Senate had wanted a requirement that the new space agency get advance congressional approval of its projects. But a compromise was reached on a provision requiring clearance for the first year only.

4. Congress completed action on legislation providing $25,000 yearly pensions to former presidents, $10,000 to their widows and giving free office space and mailing privileges to former chief executives.

Indians Blast Three Homers But Lose To Red Sox 8-6

Ninth Inning Rally Falls Short 15 Hits Allowed By Tribe Pitchers

BOSTON (AP)—The Cleveland Indians find the other seven American League clubs tough enough competition these days without "disturbing" influences being injected into the situation.

Manager Joe Gordon feels the rumors of a possible shift in the Cleveland baseball franchise to some other city have been "disturbing" to his players. Gordon said he doubted it would affect their performance on the field, though.

The Tribe was below par in Thursday night's 8-6 defeat by the Boston Red Sox, despite three homers. A ninth inning rally fell short after Cleveland had tallied three runs and had the tying run at the plate in the person of Rocky Colavito. The big slugger popped to the infield.

Vic Power, Vic Wertz and Randy Jackson slammed the homers, all with the bases empty.

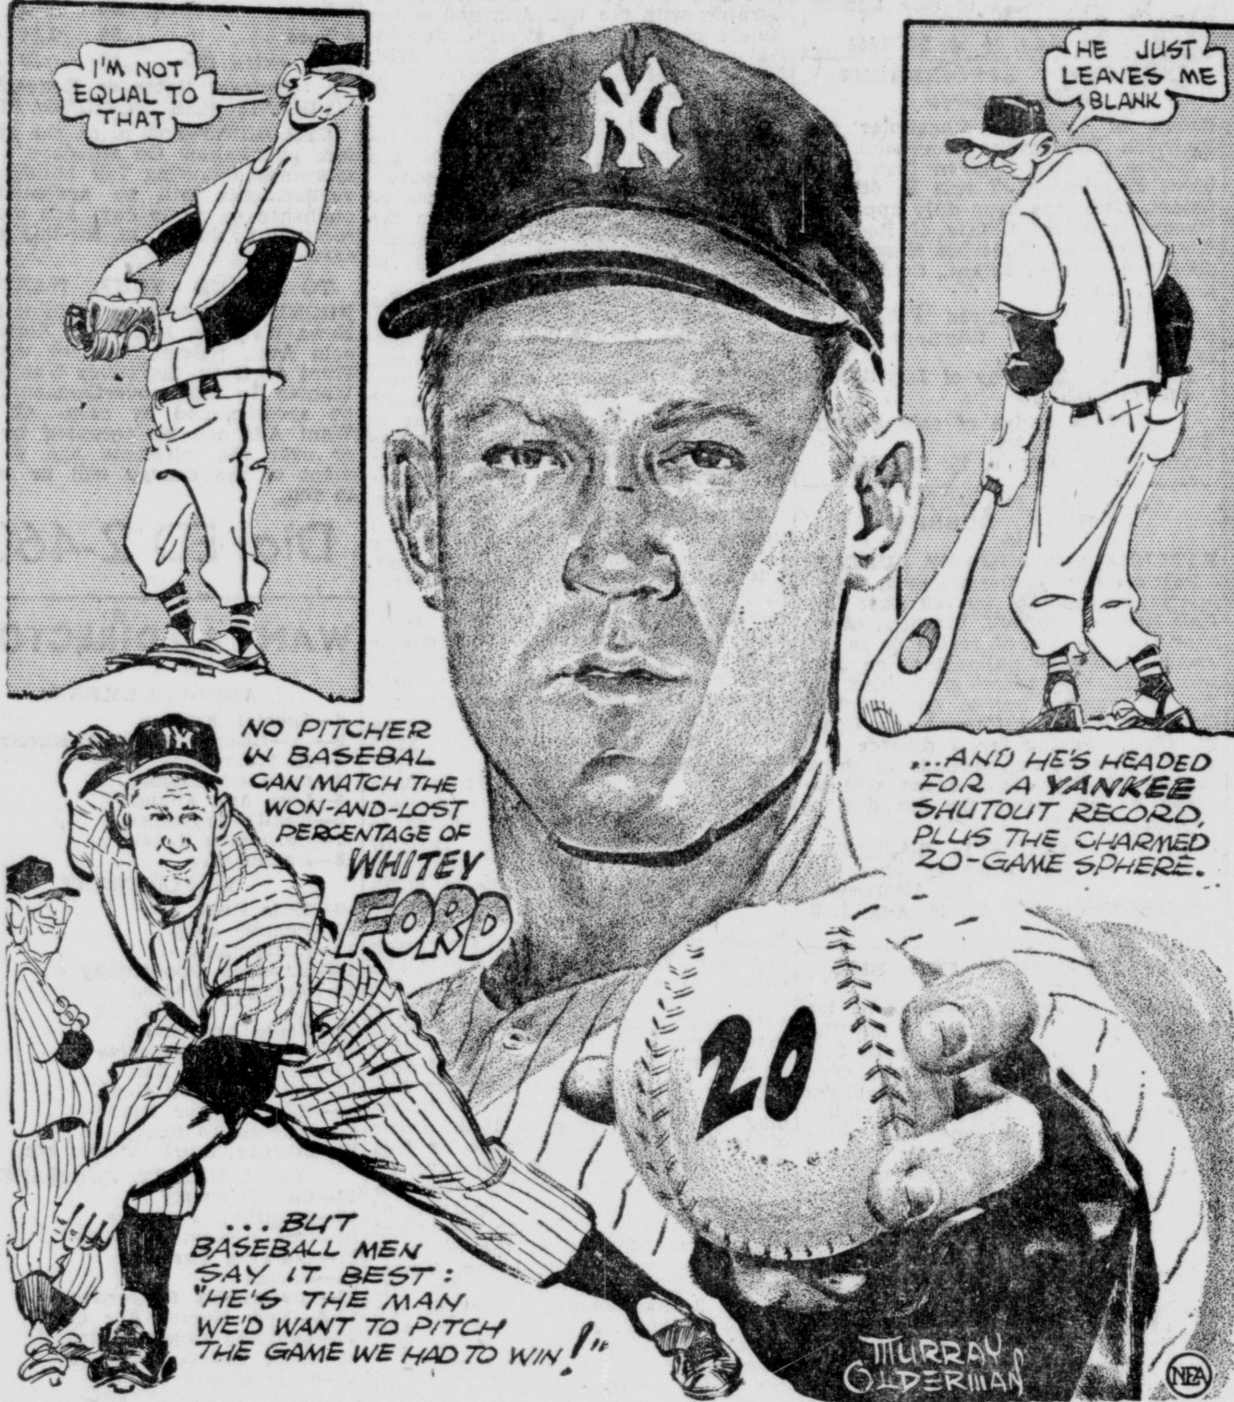

Dick Gernert had the only Boston homer, one of 15 hits off four Tribe hurlers. The loser was Hal Woodeshick (3-4), who gave up three runs in four innings. Two more were scored off Ray Narleski and the final three off Jim (Mudcat) Grant in the eighth. Don Ferrarese pitched one scoreless inning. Tom Brewer (8-10) was Boston's winner.

Power's 11th homer got the Indians off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning. An inning later the Red Sox had a 2-1 advantage. Two singles, Jim Piersall's triple and a passed ball by Russ Nixon did the damage.

Frank Malzone's triple with one out made it 3-1 in the third. Wertz's third homer of the season cut the margin to 3-2 in the fourth.

The Sox got an unearned run in the fifth to make it 4-2. A single by Minnie Mino and a double by Power gave the Indians another run in the sixth.

Newcombe Hurls Redlegs To 8-1 Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A decline in the efficiency of the Cincinnati Redlegs' relief pitchers is getting a bad share of the blame for the sad plight of the team.

So when Don Newcombe came up with a route-going pitching performance Thursday it produced an 8-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The victory also was unusual for the Redlegs in that the same nine players went all the way. It was only the fourth time this season that Cincinnati has been able to do that.

Newcombe allowed the Giants only six hits and never was in serious danger after the Redlegs staked him to a four-run lead in the opening inning.

Giant starter Mike McCormick failed to survive that first outburst. A double by Johnny Temple and two walks filled the bases.

With two out, Walt Dropo walked to force in one run and three more crossed on Alex Grammas' double.

A single by Newcombe, a sacrifice, an infield out and Ray Jablonski's error gave the Redlegs another run in the second.

After that they were stifled until the ninth. Paul Giel walked three Redlegs to fill the bases. Ed Ballhead of Daryl Spencer for a double play ball but it bounced over the head of Daryl Spencer for a double that scored two runs. Dropo doubled home the final tally.

The Giants' only run came on Leon Wagner's homer in the second inning.

No Place To Go But Down For Wilson

DETROIT (AP) — For George Wilson, there is no direction to go except down in 1958.

The head coaching job with the Detroit Lions was thrust upon him two days before the team's first preseason game last summer. He led the Lions to a tie for the Western Conference championship and his team whipped the San Francisco 49ers in the playoff game.

Then his club thrashed the Cleveland Browns for the world title and the Wilson-coached West stars defeated the East team in the annual Pro Bowl contest.

"I figure the only way I could top that performance is to quit my job", Wilson quipped. "But I ain't gonna do that."

"We were a good team, and we still are," he added. "That's not to say that we're going to repeat this season, though. This is a crazy league and you have to be lucky to win. I just hope we still have some luck left."

Five members of the title-winning club are gone. Leon Hart, Frank Gatski and Sonny Gandee retired. Dorne Dibble was traded to New York and then announced his retirement too. Line-man Ray Krouse was traded to Baltimore.

Fay Crocker Leads In Waterloo Open

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — It's almost like my home course in Uruguay, Fay Crocker said today as he carried a two stroke lead into the second round of the $7,500 Waterloo Open.

Miss Crocker, at 44 the oldest player on the ladies PGA circuit, shot the only subpar round Thursday.

"I just felt comfortable playing," she said after shooting a two under par 70.

Two strokes behind at par 72 were Louise Suggs, this year's leading money winner from Sea Island, Ga., Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., and Kathy Cornelius of Lakeland, Fla.

The 72-hole tournament continues through Sunday.

Yanks Defeat Chicago 6-3

Red Sox, Orioles, Athletics Victors

By The Associated Press
Bob Turley had to beat himself, you might say, before he could beat American League teams with consistency. Now he has a shot at becoming the New York Yankees' biggest winner since Lefty Gomez nailed 26 victories 24 years ago.

The big right-hander, who was a lad of four when Gomez did his big job for the Yankees in 1934, licked his wildness with a no-windup style, then gained more control and learned to pace himself by pausing for a couple of deep breaths between pitches.

Now he's won 18, hitting his one-season high with a six-hitter that beat Chicago 6-3 Thursday night and ended the White Sox' winning streak at seven. With 33 games left, Turley could be the first Yankee to win 22 since Gomez, and the first right-hander to do it for the champs since George Pippas in 1923.

Better yet for Turley, he now is 3-0 against the White Sox this season, a point he's always missed at contract time. "I'm particularly happy with this victory," he said, "because when I sit down to talk salary, they always tell me I never beat the top teams, like the White Sox." His lifetime record against 'em is 8-11.

While the Yankees regained an 11½-game lead with their fourth victory in 12 games, the Boston Red Sox moved within three games of second place Chicago by beating Cleveland 8-6. Baltimore tied Detroit for fourth by defeating the Tigers 7-6. Kansas City rapped Washington 7-4.

In the National League, Milwaukee defeated Los Angeles 4-0, and the Braves moved 6½ games ahead again. Cincinnati spilled the Chicago Cubs beat third place Pittsburgh 5-3, and St. Louis plunked Philadelphia back into the cellar 2-1.

The Red Sox had 15 hits and 11 walks, but left 16 men on base and didn't put it away until a three-run eighth. Dick Gernert's 17th home run scored a pair in the winning spurt. Every Boston batter had a hit except Ted Williams, who left six runners stranded. Tom Brewer won his eighth, but needed relief in a three-run ninth. Hal Woodeshick (3-4) was the loser for the Indians, who got homers from Vic Power, Vic Wertz and Randy Jackson.

The Tigers, scoring four runs in the fourth with the help of an error, blew a 6-3 lead when Gus Triandos' 24th homer, with two on, capped a four-run Oriole seventh. George Susce was the loser in relief. Chuck Beamon won it in relief—first first victory since he won his first two major league decisions in September 1956.

Hector Lopez banged a pair of homers and Hal Smith hit a two-run single for the A's, who finished their scoring in four innings. Jack Urban, 5-0 against Washington in his brief career, squared his record at 8-8, but needed relief in the eighth, when Roy Sievers drove in two runs with a single. Vito Valentini lost it.

Hitting — Ernie Banks, Cubs, drove in all of Chicago's runs in a 5-3 victory over the Pirates with a double and a pair of home runs that pushed his major league leading total to 40.

Pitching — Lew Burdette, Braves, became first to shut out the Dodgers at Los Angeles, ending Milwaukee's losing streak at three with a four-hitter for a 4-0 victory.

He struck out five, didn't walk a man and retired every man he faced over the last five innings.

Salem Leads '58 Foes In Wins, Points Made

By GORDON ARNDT
Of the nine games the Salem High School football team will play this fall, three of them will be against foes they haven't met on the gridiron for a long time.

When Wooster appears at Reilly Stadium Oct. 10, it will be the initial entrance of a Wooster team in Salem since 1904. The last game the Quakers played with Youngstown East (Oct. 24) was back in 1936. The third of the trio of new opponents this fall, Cleveland John Marshall, has not engaged a Red and Black eleven since 1948. They open the card here Sept. 12.

Salem will be playing Brookfield (Oct. 3) for the second time in history when they meet since they just commenced their gridiron battles last year.

The other five foes will appear in old football renewals which date as far back as 1903.

From the standpoint of 1958 opponents only, Salem has played Wellsville through the years more than any other squad.

The Quakers first met the Bengals (Oct. 16) back in 1905. Since then, they have played 46 times with the Quakers having compiled a 37-9-1 record scoring 855 points to Wellsville's 321.

The Potters from East Liverpool (Oct. 31) have met Salem squads 42 times since 1911. The southern counties have the edge, however, 23-17-2, outproducing Salem in tallies 608-474.

Salem has played Ravenna 30 times in a renewal dating back to 1903. The locals lead the Ravens 19-9-3 having made 411 points to 359.

The Bears of Leetonia (Nov. 7) and the Red and Black have met each other on the football field 23 times since the initial fray in 1906. Salem has won 18, lost four and tied one. They have a very decisive margin on the Bears in points scored as the 533-103 figures indicate.

Canton Timken and Salem have played 11 times since 1947 and the Quakers lead in wins 6-5 but trail in points 196-179.

John Marshall played Salem in 1948 and in 1947 and both times Salem won by the identical score of 14-0.

Wooster has been played only twice and on each occasion the Quakers have been victorious. In 1901, they won 22-0 and in 1904, they won again 10-0.

Salem has never beaten Youngstown East. They lost 25-7 in 1935 and 14-6 in 1936.

Since 1903 then, Salem has played these nine teams a total of 159 games. The Quakers have won 101, lost 51 and tied 7. They have amassed 2,544 points to their foe's 1,633.

Ravenna is the second opponent on the local's schedule this year. The Quakers have had the Ravens

Low Burdette Hurls 4-Hitter As Braves Beat Dodgers 4-0

By The Associated Press
Yep, it's almost fall and World Series time. There's the smell of burning leaves. There's football practice. And there's Low Burdette, pitching the big shutout again.
It's been a long summer for the big right-hander who pitched the Milwaukee Braves to the world championship last October. At the All-Star Game in July he had only a 6.7 record. Those winter banquets that toasted his three vicories and two shutouts over the New York Yankees in the Series were as much to blame as anything.

But since the All-Star break he's won 8 of 10. He beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-0 Thursday night with a four-hitter.
It was only his second shutout of the season. He didn't walk a man, struck out five and didn't allow a base runner after Gil Hodges, who had two of the Dodgers' hits, singled with two out in the fourth inning.
Burdette also hit his third home run of the season—all at the Coliseum—as the Braves regained a 6½-game lead in the National League race after losing three in a row to the Dodgers.
Cincinnati broke loose for an 8-1 victory over second-place San Francisco, and the Chicago Cubs, with Ernie Banks hitting his 9th and 40th home runs, beat third-place Pittsburgh 5-3. St. Louis plunked Philadelphia back into the cellar 2-1.
In the American League, the New York Yankees ended Chicago's winning string at seven, beating the White Sox 6-3 as Bob Turley won his 18th. Boston defeated Cleveland 8-6, Baltimore spilled Detroit 7-6 and Kansas City rapped Washington 7-4.

Daley Claims Horse Racing Hurts Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—It could be that the team is inferior, too much television, the lack of a tight American League pennant race or any of a dozen other reasons for the dwindling attendance at Cleveland Indians' home games.
But William R. Daley, board chairman of the Cleveland baseball club, has come up with a novel reason which he cites as the major factor: Too much horse racing in the Cleveland area.
"Cleveland has more racing dates than any other city in the United States," he says. "Seven tracks, operating day and night, have simply drained off too many entertainment dollars."
Daley says he had been under tremendous pressure from other club directors to move the team to another city and away from the competing horse tracks, but adds:
"Cleveland is my town and I want the Indians to stay here, but unless a lot of other people show that they want them we'll have no choice."

NO RACES SATURDAY
There will be no stock car racing at the Canfield Speedway Saturday night. Racing will be resumed Sept. 6 after the Canfield Fair.

Huffman, Hess Lead Miniature Golf Tourney

The second miniature golf tournament of the season is now in progress at the Salem Miniature Golf Course. The four lowest scores posted so far this month for the men's group are Dick Huffman 40, George Hendron 41, John Borelli 41 and Ed Eskay 45.

Unless a lower score is posted at the club house, Steve Paster, the manager, says these four will play off to see who wins the $25 savings bond on the first Sunday in September.

Par on the 18-hole course is 50. In the women's group only three girls have posted their scores. Penny Jo Hess has a 55, Janice Callalotte 57 and Bev Turner 51. There is still one opening to make up the final foursome for the same Sunday and a similar prize.

Herron's Truckers In State Tourney

The Herron Transfer softball team, champions of District 14, and Columbiana County runner-up, is in Toledo today competing in the state softball tournament along with Ohio's other district winners.

The tourney is a double-elimination affair. Herron's will play its first game tonight at 7:15 against the District 3 champion.

The team will be staying at the Commodore-Perry hotel.

Salem Polo Club Beats Darlington, Pa. 15-10

Six goals by Jimmy Barr and four by Lloyd Brunner led the Salem Polo Club to a 15-10 win over Darlington, Pa. Wednesday.

It was the local's 12th win in 16 matches and moved them to within one game of first place in the Penn-Ohio League.

Phil Thompson and Jim Watson had two goals each for Salem while Jack Arnold had one.

Four men had two goals each to feature Darlington's scoring.

Salem will be at home Sunday at 3 p.m. against the Mahoning Valley club of Youngstown.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving. Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (5)—The V-2

By the late 1930s rockets had reached an advanced stage. Some of Goddard's and those of the American Rocket Society were achieving speeds near that of sound. But in 1944 the world was unprepared for anything like the performance of the terrifying V-2.

Its history can be traced back to the end of World War I, when Germany was prohibited from building heavy artillery. In 1929 the Army began investigating the rocket as a weapon. An officer, Walter Dornberger, was put in charge of the project. He hired as his assistant a young, enthusiastic rocket amateur, Wernher von Braun. Their first motor exploded in 1932. But by 1934 a new model had soared to one and a half miles. By 1939 a one-ton rocket rose to five miles.

At the outbreak of World War II Hitler, unimpressed, canceled the project's high priority. However, in 1942 a completed rocket, later known as the V-2, was ready to launch from the base at Peenemunde in the North Sea.

This giant was 46 feet long, five feet in diameter and weighed over 14 tons. With a 54-second motor run, it achieved a speed of nearly 3,500 miles an hour. For the first time in history a rocket was sent to the border of space. But red tape, the Gestapo and a devastating raid by British bombers in 1943 severely retarded the work.

Not until September 1944 did the first V-2 crash down on London. But by the end of the war some 1,500 were fired at England, more than 2,000 at the harbor of Antwerp. Too late to turn the war, the V-2 was, however, the herald of the age of space. But when in August 1945 the atomic age was even more horrifyingly ushered in, the possibility of a rocket-atom bomb combination turned the race for space into a race for survival.

Hanover Twp. Troop 52

Last Sunday members of Boy Scout Troop 52, Hanover Township, went on a hike at Beaver Kettle Farms near Fredericktown. The purpose of the hike was to locate a good camping site for future use.

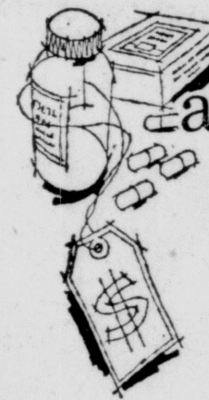

Randy Starkie, Charles Guthrie and Don Mayer worked on first and second class advancement requirements during the hike. The troop cooked their evening meal before hiking back to their cars. Scout Master, Donald Mayer, guided the boys.

During the troop's regular Thursday night meeting, the boys worked on the merit badge show that Troop 52 is preparing for the Scout Circus on Oct. 4.

The troop also visited Lincoln Machine Co., with Gordon Cummings, troop committeeman, conducting the tour.

It was announced that each boy working on the circus project will earn his metal working merit badge.
